

31. Creating your own sound effects

The job of the foley artist is often an absurd one. On a film set, one quickly finds that nothing makes as effective a sound as it needs to.

Freesound (<http://freesound.iua.upf.edu/index.php>) provides an invaluable resource for free sound effects.

References

Clip 31.1 - The butterfly wing-flapping sound in this clip was created by filming paper being flapped, slowing the clip down in iMovie, then cutting and pasting the audio into the main film project.